Dear Chair Hoeven, Ranking Member Shaheen, Chair Harris, Ranking Member Bishop, Chair Boozman, Ranking Member Klobuchar, Chair Thompson, and Ranking Member Craig:

By nearly any measure, 2025 was a challenging year for farmers and ranchers. High production costs, unstable markets, low prices, and overproduction have threatened our livelihoods and farm viability from coast to coast. As one step toward supporting the long term viability of our land and operations, we urge you to respond to this crisis by delivering farm and ranch assistance that keeps us on the land, bolsters domestic markets, and helps to reduce inputs.

Many of us, as well as our friends and neighbors, have had to make difficult decisions in recent years just to make ends meet. Another unprofitable year will push even more of us out of business - and when that happens, our families and communities suffer too. The Farmer Bridge Assistance Program offers momentary relief for some of us, but it is insufficient on its own. Now is the time to make investments to help ensure that we don't find ourselves here again.

Reliable markets are foundational to our business success. Many of us were directly impacted by the abrupt cancellation of domestic market initiatives last year, hampering our access to local markets and our ability to support neighboring families and communities. We believe that farm and ranch assistance should invest in the development of new, more robust domestic markets and local supply chains - guided by state and farmer expertise - that can sustain our businesses' growth long term.

Separately, for many of us, high fertilizer and pesticide costs erode our profitability, making it challenging to build toward the future with confidence. Yet, access to conservation practices that can grow our profitability is difficult - it can take years of waiting in line to access federal conservation programs. Farm and ranch assistance should provide dedicated funding for those of us eager to adopt conservation practices that help reduce fertilizer and pesticide use, insulating our businesses from spikes in input prices and supporting our long term viability.

Finally, while the investments above are taking hold, Congress must stave off another round of foreclosures to keep us and our neighbors on the land. Any financial assistance should have broad eligibility and payments that are based on a farmers' and ranchers' expected revenue rather than a one-size-fits all payment rate. Additionally, a foreclosure moratorium should immediately be put into place while this assistance is delivered to prevent any further farm or ranch loss.

We stand ready to make the innovations necessary in our businesses today to build a stronger farm economy for tomorrow.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Midwest
